General awareness and general knowledge is a crucial skill that one must possess. It has always held a very important place in this world and will continue to do so. The term general awareness refers to a deeper understanding (or "awareness") of the world as a whole -- aside from specialised scientific or technical education. It has broad connotations with different elements coming from an understanding of one's immediate surroundings, together with a generalised understanding of the globalised world. The commonly known term 'general knowledge' refers to recollection (or "knowledge") of general facts about the world -- answers to questions such as : Who was the first Prime Minister of India? When was World War II fought? How many countries participated in the Commonwealth Games 2010? etc. It is not the same as 'general awareness', although for a student in school or at the Graduate level, the line may be blurry and thin.

In an ever-shrinking, globalised world and with the increasing need to make decisions based on global events and multiple factors, general awareness is a necessary and important skill for functioning as a global citizen or leader. It is necessary for students in order to grow on the academic front and in their career choices. General awareness broadens our perspective of world affairs and improves our outlook and understanding of our surroundings, which makes it important for a successful and meaningful life.

General knowledge gives us an insight into what was there yesterday, today and tomorrow. Asking questions as a young child and then developing the habit of reading enriches both our awareness and knowledge.

As adults we must always answer the questions put forth by the young inquisitive mind. Once our child begins to read, ensure plenty of reading material which will keep the flames of curiosity burning.

In today's time, gender, caste, religion, nationality, everything has shrunk. Each and everyone has to be aware and have knowledge about all.

" Knowledge is power. Information is liberating. Education is the premise of progress in every society, in every family." Kofi Annan

FRIENDS COME IN EVERY SHAPE AND SIZE

Alone elephant walked through the forest, looking for friends.
On being offered for friendship, the monkey refused her for her inability to swing.
The rabbit said no for her size.
The frog said no for her inability to jump like him.
She received the same reply from others.
One day, she saw a tiger attacking animals there.
To save them, the elephant kicked the tiger away.
Upon hearing this, the other animals agreed, "You are just the right size to be our friend."

TEACHERS: THE NEW WARRIORS

The world has turned upside down
Regular Monday morning in the town,
Life has a new normal
I settled at my desk without the formals.
Turning on the PC, logging into Microsoft Teams
Well, it's hard and not so simple, it seems,
Sitting at the desk all day, looking on the screens
For our teachers, it's a daily routine.
Teaching the lessons, clearing the doubts
Handling all of us without any shouts, Test papers and homework, all that's required
They neither complain nor get tired.
You are the next level warriors
Breaking all the barriers,
Shaping the future for tomorrow
Thank you for leading the path, which we shall follow.

MY FUNNY SISTER

My sister is tiny and she makes my life shiny.
When she sees a bin
she calls it win.
My sister can feed a cow
but I am afraid to do it even till now.
She touched its tummy
and asked "Was it yummy?"

TWO WONDERFUL CREATIONS OF GOD

Mom gives us birth
and teachers make it worth.
Mom feeds us with her hands,
and from teachers we learn how to earn
and take our own stand.
Mom embraces when we are in pain,
from teachers we learn how to sustain.
Mom always fills us with love,
A teacher teaches how to rise above.
Both play a crucial role in shaping our lives,
One being chopper board, other being the knife.
The two wonderful creations of God
filled with love,
They are our real assets and always make us feel proud.
