“Education is the bridge between dreams and reality—cross it with confidence.”

Freedom

I want freedom that I love,
Freedom that lives in heaven above.
I want independence that satisfies,
Not a freedom that always deals in lies.

Happiness is all that it should bring,
Not a castle where freedom is just a thing.
Freedom like a saint in the jungle,
Like the thunder in clouds that rumble.

Freedom like a fruit dropped from a tree,
A pollen of flowers that moves free.
Freedom I want in the world, in men,
Like a brave lion roaring from his den.

Freedom is all I truly know,
Like a wanderer who always flows.

This is Our Country, India

This is our country, India, where many great warriors lived,
This is the golden land of the earth, where sages meditated in peace,
This is the land where the sweet songs of Narada once echoed,
This is the land where the finest things were created.

In every corner, history speaks,
Of kings and queens, of truths they seek.
The rivers flow with ancient tales,
While temples stand with stories that never fail.

This is the land where knowledge blooms,
Where culture and wisdom brightly loom.

This is our country, India,
Our pride, our heart, our India.

The Importance of a Bank Account

A bank account today is a must,
To keep our money safe in trust.
It helps our savings steadily grow,
With interest earned on the cash we stow!

So many banks, the choices are wide,
Be wise and choose with knowledge as your guide.
Banking is a skill for life, no doubt,
Learn it well to figure finances out!

What Are Real Dreams?

What are real dreams, do you know?
Dreams come to you, to me, to all, they flow.
But those dreams are not always real,
They vanish like mist, no matter how we feel.

Real dreams are the ones you see,
With open eyes, in a mind that's free.
They're not just dreams of the night or dawn,
But visions imagined, beautifully drawn.

Real dreams are those that spark your mind,
Born of thoughts, pure and kind.
They're dreams you work for, make come true,
Dreams that bring success to you.

When we believe that nothing is hard,
Every step forward becomes our reward.
Real dreams are the ones we dare to create,
Turning thoughts into actions, sealing our fate
